"As a current student pursuing Engineering in Computer Science , I am excited about the opportunity to apply for an internship at Google and bring my programming skills in C and Java, along with my expertise in data analysis using Power BI and web development with HTML5 and CSS3, to contribute to Google's innovative projects.

Throughout my academic journey, I have gained a strong foundation in programming languages and data analysis techniques, and I am enthusiastic about applying these skills in a practical, real-world setting. My experience in web development using HTML5 and CSS3 has allowed me to create user-friendly interfaces and cultivate a passion for delivering seamless user experiences.

While I am still in the process of completing my degree, I am eager to bring my current skills and dedication to a dynamic internship environment. I am confident that my enthusiasm for technology, coupled with my technical proficiency, will make a positive contribution to the Google internship program.

I am excited about the prospect of learning from and collaborating with the talented professionals at Google, and I am committed to leveraging this internship opportunity to further develop my skills and contribute to the impactful work happening at Google."
